

Title: Genome-wide interactions with smoking – served two ways
Presenter: Stephanie London, MD, DrPH

This talk will present two types of analyses examining genome wide interactions with smoking. The first incorporates smoking into genome wide interaction studies of pulmonary function in adults. The second examines the influence of maternal smoking on the epigenome of newborns using a genome-wide methylation platform (the Illumina Methyl450k).