

NIH Climate Change and Health Webinar Series

Why Climate Change is a Health Threat

Hosted by NIMHD

February 9, 2022

12:00 - 1:00 p.m. EST

*Free, Open to the Public,
Registration required*

Speakers

- WELCOME: Eliseo J. Perez-Stable, M.D., NIMHD Director
- Robert D. Bullard, Ph.D., Texas Southern University

Climate change affects the most vulnerable in our society and exacerbates social and environmental determinants of health. Though people of color and low-income households historically contributed least to the climate crisis, they feel the pain first, worst, and longest.
