NIEHS American Recovery and Reinvestment Act 2009 Funding

- The NIEHS WETP has recently awarded $6,784,076 in ARRA funds to provide administrative supplements to eligible awardees.
- Priorities for ARRA supplemental applications included health and safety training for target populations that will be employed in the hazardous components of jobs that will be supported by the federal stimulus and recovery program.
- For the emerging green sector, this includes the customization of safety and health training for emerging jobs in commercial and residential weatherization, alternative energy development, green remediation, green construction and emerging industries like nanotechnology.

WORKER EDUCATION AND TRAINING PROGRAM

ARRA Supplements for MWTP activities

- Dillard University has received $400,000 to implement Minority Worker Training Programs in Atlanta, Georgia and the four-county area surrounding Hattiesburg, Mississippi. Participants will be recruited from low-income communities, selected, trained, and placed into employment. The project will also provide green supervisor training for 40 selected program graduates in Baton Rouge and Detroit.
- CPWR received $615,000 to deliver training for green construction jobs, including weatherization and alternative energy sources. Under the Minority Worker Training Program, they will expand their comprehensive environmental and construction training for under-represented workers in four communities including New Orleans, LA; St. Paul, MN; Los Angeles and East Palo Alto, CA to train and employ workers in the green construction, wind turbine, and photo-voltaic industries.

- OAI, Inc. will utilize $482,000 to implement health and safety training for newly hired and/or retrained weatherization, construction, environmental remediation and debris removal workers and contractors in Illinois, Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Maine and expanding the MWTP.
- The New Jersey/New York Hazardous Materials Worker Training Center, based at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, received $400,000 to provide training to workers in various hazardous waste areas especially those who will be engaged in cleaning up newly funded ARRA Superfund sites in New York and New Jersey. The scope of work includes hazardous waste clean-up and green jobs initiatives under the HWWT and the Minority Worker Training Programs.
