What’s HOT in Women’s Heart Health: Keeping You Informed

Thursday, February 10, 2022
6:30 - 7:45 p.m. EST

This session will help explain the types of cardiovascular disease, signs, symptoms, and diagnostic and treatment options for women.

During this session, participants will be able to:

• Identify the unique signs and symptoms of cardiovascular issues in women.
• Learn how to advocate for their cardiovascular health.
• Learn the importance of preventing and managing hypertension.

Webinar Goal: To be empowered to identify the best diagnostic and treatment options for various types of cardiovascular diseases and be your own best heart health advocate

Registration is free and open. Registration closes at noon on Thursday, February 10, 2022. Register at https://niehs.nih.gov/womenshealthawareness. The zoom link will be provided prior to the webinar.
