

National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences

Reproductive Epidemiology: Past, Present, and Future

A Symposium for Allen Wilcox

Friday, October 18, 2019
8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Building 101, Room F193

SPEAKERS

Clarice Weinberg
Donna Baird
Rolv Skjærven
Rolv Terje Lie
Olga Basso
Nigel Paneth
Pierre Buekens
Irva Hertz-Picciotto
Kenneth Rothman
David Savitz

https://tools.niehs.nih.gov/conference/epid_2019

REPRODUCTIVE EPIDEMIOLOGY: PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

8:30 - 9:00 a.m. Registration, NIEHS Entrance Lobby

9:00 - 10:00 a.m. Session One (Dale Sandler, Moderator)

Welcome

Dale Sandler, NIEHS

Darryl Zeldin, NIEHS

Epidemiology as a Tool of Reproductive Biology

Donna Baird, NIEHS

Scandinavia: A Laboratory for Perinatal Epidemiologic Research

Rolv Terje Lie, University of Bergen

10:00 - 10:30 a.m. Coffee Break (Outside symposium room)

10:30 - 11:40 a.m. Session Two (Kelly Ferguson, Moderator)

The Unique and Thorny Methodological Challenges That Arise in Perinatal Epidemiology

Olga Basso, McGill University

Reproductive Epidemiology and Its Contributions to Epidemiologic Methods

Clare Weinberg, NIEHS

Environment, Gestation, Timing, and Beyond

Irva Hertz-Picciotto, University of California, Davis

11:40 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Lunch (Available for purchase in the cafeteria)

1:00 - 2:20 p.m. Session Three (Anne Marie Jukic, Moderator)

Reflections

Linda Birnbaum, Retired Director, NIEHS

Contributions of the Norwegian Medical Birth Registry to Perinatal Epidemiology

Rolv Skjærven, University of Bergen

Three Perinatal Epidemiologic Findings That Have Impacted Public Health

Nigel Paneth, Michigan State University

Disruptive Reproductive and Perinatal Epidemiology

Pierre Buekens, Tulane University

2:20 - 2:50 p.m. Coffee Break (Outside symposium room)

2:50 - 4:00 p.m. Session Four (Quaker Harmon, Moderator)

Scientific Journals as Advocates for Good Science

Ken Rothman, Boston University, RTI Health Solutions

The Birth and Maturation of Perinatal Epidemiology

David Savitz, Brown University

The Future of Reproductive Epidemiology

Allen Wilcox, NIEHS

4:00 - 5:00 p.m. Reception (Cafeteria)

This symposium is accessible by webcast through the following link:

www.niehs.nih.gov/news/webcasts