Section 2. Mapping Hazards in the workplace and home. Our objective was to more familiarize the students with Small Group Activity Method; but, at the same time give an introduction in how they could use Hazard Mapping to help eliminate hazards. Our training utilizes small group activities, including presentation of a scenario, discussions of solutions to problems in small groups and report back to the instructors.

Section 3. The method is named Small Group Activities Method and is described above. There is a more detailed description in each of our workbooks that are the students' to take home.

Section 4. We make two basic points; they are that, collectively, we as workers can solve any problems we are faced with; and that the techniques we present are very powerful health and safety tools.
