25. The highs and lows of remote training (WRUC/Railworkers - Chuck Mitchell, Darryl Begay & B.J. Griego) Track: Instructor Development/ Life Skills and Job Training

Training in a remote or wilderness location is very rewarding. However, the experience has more than it's share of training and logistical challenges. In this workshop, presenters from the University of Washington and the Rail Workers' Hazmat Training program will share their unique experiences with conducting training in remote locations. A group discussion following the presentations will center on workshop attendees' experiences and related topics.
