

NIEHS WTP Fall Infectious Disease Workshop
September 21, 2016

Successes and challenges in the delivery of the BIDTI training curriculum

Scott Patlovich DrPH, CBSP, CHMM, CPH
Director, Environmental Health & Safety
The University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston
Phone: 713-500-8100
Email: Scott.J.Patlovich@uth.tmc.edu

The Biosafety and Infectious Disease Training Initiative (BIDTI)

~~—A National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS) Worker
Training Program (WTP)~~

UH4 ES027055-01 (Ebola Biosafety and Infectious Disease Response)

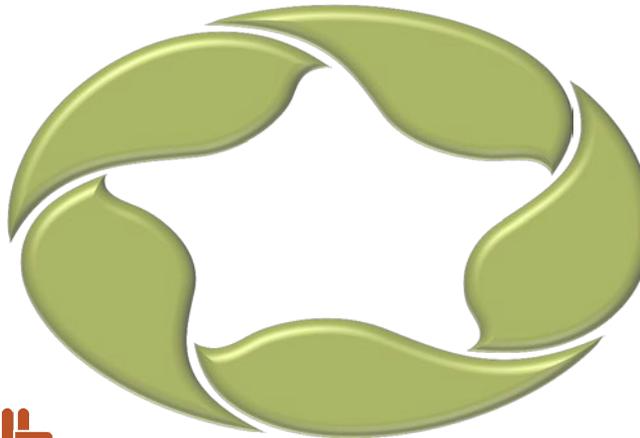

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
BLOOMINGTON

HARVARD
T.H. CHAN
SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH
Emergency Preparedness Research,
Evaluation, and Practice Program

 UNMC
UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA
MEDICAL CENTER™

UTHealth®
The University of Texas
Health Science Center at Houston
School of Public Health

DILLARD
UNIVERSITY

Success!

Some challenges

- Training needs – identify & meet (or exceed) them
- Trainee expectations – acknowledge & manage
- Mixed audiences – adjust accordingly
- Put it into perspective

Effective delivery of the BIDTI training relies on the trainers addressing these challenges!

Partners with Resources, Knowledge, and Experience

Thank You

Questions?