

The following video, NIEHS Worker Education and Training Program Recovery Act Successes, highlights the NIEHS Worker Education and Training Program (WETP) and a number of the WETP programs funded with the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act funds it received.

The National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS) Worker Education and Training Program (WETP) funds hazardous materials training in all 50 states and most U.S. Territories.

The speakers in the video are (in order):

Gwen Collman, Ph.D., Director, Division of Extramural Research and Training, NIEHS

Joseph “Chip” Hughes, Director, Worker Education and Training Program, NIEHS

Linda Delp, Ph.D., WETP Grantee, UCLA Labor Occupational Health and Safety Program

Joseph “Chip” Hughes, Director, Worker Education and Training Program, NIEHS

Gwen Collman, Ph.D., Director, Division of Extramural Research and Training, NIEHS

Joseph “Chip” Hughes, Director, Worker Education and Training Program, NIEHS

Gwen Collman, Ph.D., Director, Division of Extramural Research and Training, NIEHS

Linda Delp, Ph.D., WETP Recovery Act Grantee, UCLA Labor Occupational Health and Safety Program

Tipawan Reed, WETP Recovery Act Grantee, OAI, Inc.

John LeConche, WETP Recovery Act Grantee, Laborers International Union of North America Training and Education Fund

Kizetta Vaughn, WETP Recovery Act Grantee, CPWR – Center for Construction Research and Training

Beverly Wright, Ph.D., WETP Recovery Act Grantee, Deep South Center for Environmental Justice, Dillard University

Mitchell Rosen, WETP Recovery Act Grantee, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey School of Public Health

Sylvester Servance, Hope Community Outreach Center

Tony Foster, Hope Community Outreach Center trainee

Darryl Butler, Hope Community Outreach Center trainee

Dennis Brown, Trainer, New York City District Council of Carpenters

Joseph “Chip” Hughes, Director, Worker Education and Training Program, NIEHS

For more information on the Worker Education and Training Program and its awardees, go to <http://tools.niehs.nih.gov/wetp/>

This video was made possible by contract #273-05-C-0017 from the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS), NIH to MDB, Inc., which operates the National Clearinghouse for Worker Safety and Health Training.